

FSPCA EXTENSION WEBINAR

APRIL 30, 2015 • 12:00 – 1:00 pm CDT

FSPCA SPECIAL WEBINAR FOR EXTENSION

The Food Safety Modernization Act (FSMA) is the most far-reaching food safety law enacted in the past 75 years. Under FSMA, two of the seven foundational regulations are expected to be published this summer: Preventive Controls for Human Food and Preventive Controls for Animal Food. Both will have a major impact on the food industry. The Food Safety Preventive Controls Alliance (FSPCA), a public-private partnership, was formed to assist mainly small business in preparing and complying with the upcoming regulations. We believe the University Extension community will play a critical role in providing instruction and technical assistance across the country and we would like your input to see how the Alliance can support the needs of the Extension community.

Please join us on April 30th, at 12:00 pm, Central Daylight Saving Time (CDT) for a presentation about the possible roles and benefits for University Extension in participating with the FSPCA.

During this webinar, you will learn about the structure of the Alliance and its charges so that opportunities for University Extension can be identified in the areas of:

- Extension participation in the Alliance
- Instructing and using Alliance course material
- Providing technical assistance especially to small human food and animal food businesses
- Conducting research and publishing papers on Preventive Controls
- Using communication platforms for stakeholders and peers
- Presentation at an annual technical conference, and
- Identifying ways to provide financial support to Extension

A Q&A session will follow the presentation.
