

Information Technology and Extension Programming: A Web Book

Table of Contents, Draft: June 23, 2001

S.J. Goetz and B. DeYoung, Editors

Introduction

1.0 E-Commerce and Agriculture/Forestry (Natural Resources)

- 1.1 Consumer Acceptance of E-Commerce -- the B2C side
Brenda J. Cude
- 1.2 E-Commerce Applications of the Mid-Atlantic Food Systems Web Site
Carl L. German, Richard VanVranken, and Kathleen Klotzbach Shimomura
- 1.3 E-Commerce and the Market for Forest Products
David Damery
- 1.4 International Agricultural Marketing via the Web
Linda Aines

2.0 E-Commerce and Small/Rural Business

- 2.1 Online Small Business Alliances: Net Gain @ Speed of Thought!
Bruce DeYoung
- 2.2 Home-Based Business Owners and the Web
Karen Biers
- 2.3 Extension Addresses the E-Commerce Needs of Mississippi Small Businesses
Beth Duncan
- 2.4 Business Use of Information Technology in Nebraska
Connie Hancock, John C. Allen and Rebecca Vogt

3.0 IT and the Digital Divide

- 3.1 Rural Development and the Digital Divide
Richard Vlosky and Kofi Poku
- 3.2 Digital Inclusion or Exclusion? Examining Regional Variation in the Use of Information Technology Among Metro/Nonmetro Residents
Lionel Beaulieu, William J. Grigsby, Stephan J. Goetz and Melissa Barfield

4.0 E-Communities and E-Government

- 4.1 Teleliteracy and the West - Developing Community Internet Advocates On the New Mexico Frontier
Robert Coppedge
- 4.2 The E-Government Revolution: How will it Impact Rural America?
Monty Sullivan
- 4.3 Community Information Networks
William J. Grigsby, William C. Shuffstall and Stephan J. Goetz
- 4.4 Internet Solutions for Rural Communities: New Options for Outreach.
Julie Fesenmaier <http://www.ag.uiuc.edu/~lced/toolbox/>